Non-Discrimination Policy

Suffolk University Law School is committed to a policy of providing its students and graduates with equal opportunity to obtain employment, without discrimination on the ground of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, handicap or disability, sexual orientation, or status as a veteran or military reservist.

As required by the bylaws of the Association of American Law Schools, Suffolk University Law School requests all employers working with its Career Development Office to provide assurance of the employer's willingness to observe these principles of equal opportunity.

Your signature below indicates your commitment that in using the Law School's facilities for recruitment or employment interviews, you will adhere to this policy.
